

Years ago, President Ronald Reagan sat down with ACU's founders and made them promise that CPAC would always remain affordable to college students.

He did this because he knew that our children were the conservative movement's greatest treasure. He knew that they were the future of our country, and that the Left would not rest until the hearts and minds of every American youth belonged to them.

For years, conservatives watched as liberalism seized every aspect of education from classrooms to university campuses. Politicians like Bernie Sanders and liberal-biased universities took advantage of our inaction to indoctrinate a new generation of Socialists.

Enough is enough. Now, we must act.

Through the Ronald Reagan Circle, ACU is committed to winning back the next generation. This year, our goal is to make CPAC free for students who want to learn more about conservatism and make their country a better place. Because of this, we have decided to make it a core mission of this prestigious partnership to provide means for students seeking to attend CPAC but lack the necessary funds.

By joining the Ronald Reagan Circle, you would be helping us accomplish this crucial mission. You would be helping us fulfill our promise to President Reagan himself.

CPAC is a year-round movement with events taking place from coast to coast. We want people of all backgrounds from all walks of life to attend and help make conservatism a household name. But, without young activists supported by investors like you, our movement has no legs.

That's why we are asking you to help us reclaim America's youth for the Conservative Movement. Your support will mean access for students to engage in conservative programming and trainings at CPAC and other ACU events. Because of your investment, students will learn about their American heritage from conservatives like Ted Cruz, Sean Hannity, and Dana Loesch instead of liberal professors.

Your investment could mean a significant difference in the life of a college student who has never once been exposed to the foundational ideals of this country.

We believe that this initiative will be a tremendous step forward in reigniting our nation's founding principles, respect for the flag, and a love for freedom in America's youth. We hope that you will join us by making an investment today.
